Somebody did a great job by uploading all the books of Darse Nizami at archive.org. The books were divided into 15 collections and then each collection was uploaded on a separate page of archive.org. But the names of the books were not listed. It would be great for anyone who wished to download all the 367 files in the 15 collections, which add up to around 7.8 GB (7775.88479999999 MB).

However, most of us are constrained by time, internet speed and bandwidth limitations. We would rather download a few books that interest us instead of going for the entire 8 GB. So, using Mozilla Firefox, EditPlus and Microsoft Word, I found out the names of all the books, their PDF sizes, and then arranged the entire info in a table. Now, you just need to click the name of any book, and – if the internet connection is working fine, and there are no firewall limitations – it will start downloading.

The last column contains collection number (1-15). You may click on one of those numbers to visit archive.org page that lists the download links for the collection's books.
